From realm to realm
You have just entered Realm D — a dimension ahead of time from Realm 2 where most of us live today.
Realm 2 used to be a great realm years ago, but monopolization of power made it a dangerous world to live in. Dreamers, united by a desire to discover a more open and fairer world, found a way to build portals to other realms.
Newly discovered realms — like this one, Realm D — turned out to be beautiful lands with opportunities to move beyond the boundaries of Realm 2. Now more and more builders relocate here to co-create and learn.
Today, traveling through and between realms is possible for everyone. However, the portal technology is new and some precautions should be taken! Travelling from one realm to another can erase your identity, meaning all reputation, connections, goods and even knowledge of a traveller could be lost.
Best to take precautions!

1. This is Gene Pool
Witness the effects of Darwinian evolution as hundreds of simulated organisms compete for mates and food. Explore this virtual aquarium of proto-swimming robots ('swimbots'), and see how mate preference can effect the course of evolution.
Watch the emergence of a dominant race of swimmers in about 30 minutes. Keep it running for longer and swimming skills will improve, where swimming 'skill' is determined entirely by natural selection.
Every time you start a new pool, the outcome will be different.

DWeb Principles
These define the values of a decentralized web based on enabling agency of all peoples — the basis for behavioral norms and mutual accountability to bring about a more just and equitable world.
These stand alongside other sets of principles that share or expand upon these values, and originate from those involved with and convened by the Internet Archive's work on the decentralized web. This is a summarized version of the principles.
